FOUND AT LAST.

Incidents arise in the lives of people which cause them to consider. In the great tattle for political supremacy just fought between two prominent parties some men were convinced that the ticket they voted was the best for their own and the country's welfare. That tattle is over; but as one awallow does not ple want to try conclusions in a local or not, one thing is cerain-there are four young and able aspirants, either of whom is willing-aye, anxious-to serve this constituency in the legislature-Mesara, Robison Moncure, J. Fred Birrell, R W. Arnold, of this city, and James E. Clements, of the county. It is hard to predict what will become of them in their acramble for political tavor, but if the people want to know "What Became of Parker?" the Elks' Drama ic Club will tell them at the Opera House tonight and tomorrow night. A fine comedy, a strong amsteur company, and the commendable object for which the comedy is presented should

Upon being scarched two watches, two sweaters and $1,20 belonging to the youths were found on the man. The latter gave his name as William Jones. The accused was brought before the Police Court this morning when Gow and Ackerman said they lived near Jersey City, that they had been traveling with a carnival company, which they left at Roanoke, and were making their way toward home. They testified that while on the corner of King and Alfred streets they met Jones and asked him to direct them to a lunch house. Jones, they averred, re-plied, "You don't want a lunch house."

After relieving Gow and Ackerman of their Waterbury watches and $1.20 in money, Jones ordered them to remove their sweaters, atter which the highwayman allowed them to depart. Jones, in his defense, said he bad been with the boys, but this was denied by the latter. The accused said he was a native of Spottsylvania county, and lived within eight miles of Fredericksburg. Justice Caton imposed a fine of $50 upor Jones, and in default of payment he will serve six months on the

THE AUTO HEROINE.

The theater-goers of this city have witnessed some thrilling pictures at the moving picture houses in the past month but none of them hold a candle to the one at the Alexandria Amusement Com-rany called "The Auto Heroine," This is without doubt the most sensational picture ever exhibited, showing as it does the daring feat of a young woman saving an automobile from destruction and the occupants from ins ant death. "Auntie Takes the Children to the Country" and "How a Pretty Girl Sold Her Hair Restorer" are the other interesting subjects.
